The exhibition concept "Link out" is a dynamic, network-like structure composed of discursive and material-based elements that creates a dialogical space. It interweaves idea, medium, and space in a continuous flow, dissolving boundaries between conceptuality and form, and offering an open platform for communication and collective thought. The space is experienced as a living, ever-changing fabric in which lingering and flowing are equally valued experiences. In doing so, it fosters a transformative dialogue between participants and the exhibited elements.
